Before you read anything about the image, use your powers of observation to look slowly and closely.

What do you notice? Imagine using all of your senses.
What do you recognize?

What feeling do you get from the image? Is there a mood?

What does this image remind you of?
What is going on?
What other meanings could there be?

What does the image make you wonder about?
What more do you want to know?